

Security Risk Solutions Limited

The Company

Security Risk Solutions Limited is a privately owned Kenyan company that was established in 2007 as a result of a merger between the former Ernst & Young IT Risk practice and a local Computer Forensic firm, Townsend Andrews Consulting Ltd.

The company is specialized in providing services in the areas of Information Security, Business Continuity and Computer Forensics as well as assisting investors to settle conveniently and securely into the African market. SRS offers feasibility studies that identify the market potential, the management requirements, the tax implications, and include a production strategy as well as a preliminary financial analysis. The company can also facilitate the approach of financing institutions and present projects for approval and consideration.

The guiding principles for SRS are to provide professional service of international standards while putting the client at the heart of its activities by utilizing state-of-the-art technologies to deliver high quality and prompt service. Their vast experience include clients from the telecommunication sector, large finance institutions and the government.
